New Yorks Beat Quakers in the Afternoon and Lose to Them in the Morning -Cubs Win Twice and Take the Lead -Brooklyns Divide With Bostons - Sther Results

Winning and losing in their games with the Philadelphias yesterday, the New York Naa pennant clip, although they batted encouragingly on the whole. However, they lost the lead, as the Chicagos fought their way to two victories from the Pittsburgs. Besides the Chicagos the only team to win both games was the Cincinnatis, who toppled the Cardinals over morning and afternoon. They are tied for fifth place with the Bostons, who broke even with the Brooklyns. The Reds and Cardinals played a fifteen inning game in the morning, and the Bostons and Brooklyns went fourteen innings in the afternoon.

NEW FORE (N. L.), 6; PHILADELPHIA (N. L.) -APTERNOON GAME.

A morning crowd of fair proportions had the sorrowful experience of seeing the New Yorks beaten by the Philadelphias yesterday but in the afternoon as big an attendance as the Polo Grounds ever fenced in saw the New Yorks win impressively all the way There was not room enough in the grounds to accommodate all of the perfervid oranks who took advantage of the holiday to go a-Maying to the ball park. The gates were shut down at twenty minutes after 3 o'clock, for the seating capacity of the arena was then full to the bursting point. The closing of the gates in the face of clamoring hundreds on the outside was not without its difficulties. doors was smashed in by the pressure from

It was a delightful day for baseball, and all went well enough in the afternoon until there was a sudden overflow from the tightly sammed denizens of the left field seats. man jumped over the rampart to the field below, and in another second scores were following the lead of this intrepld ploneer. it was a human waterfall-a Niagara, a Minnehaha and a Yosemite all in one, and efforts to induce the jumpers to stay where they vere were as "leaps of grasshoppers against

It was only a few minutes before game time when the cataract from the altitudinous bleacher broke loose, and as the field was quickly overrun there was a delay of half an hour before the crowd was sufficiently in subjection for play to begin. As to the wonderful wire screen that was to hold people in check, dozens clambered over that from the right field bleachers and joined those from across the meadow in scampering out on the grass. Several women, scorning the hampering nature of their attire, scaled the screens, and for those who did not take the hurdle easily there were willing male hands to assist in clearing the barrier. It was not long before there was a solid ring of spectators all the way around the field in front of the stands and back field fence. Those who seated themselves on the turf in the outfield were all right and made no trouble, but there were many among those who rushed for vantage points near the front of the grand stand who cared for nobody but themselves. They would neither sit down nor fall back. What few uniformed peace preservers there were on hand were altogether unable to force the crowd back. The crowd was nearly up to the base lines and was very stubborn about relinquishing an inch of ground, though to play while they were there was out of the question could get police on these grounds if they wanted to," was the comment of one ignoramus, who was as much in the way as anybody. The club gatemen and other employees came to the assistance of the Pinks, but there were not enough persons to accomplish anything by force. Moral sussion was the agent_that at length induced the serried ranks to retreat a few yards. Phil Seixas went out on the field and informed the people that there would be no game until they made room for one. He did a good deal toward convincing them of the need of moving back-he and Fred Knowles and the players back—he and Fred Knowles and the players of both teams, assisted by peanut boys, scorecard boys and every other kind of temporary policeman obtainable.

The players' benches were no good to them being obscured by the crowd in front, and the players had to camp out on the grass not far from the home plate. The crowd was orderly enough, once the situation of its component parts had become permanent, barring a fight between two boys and an idiot who tossed a bottle out toward Devlin when the latter went into the mass for a foul ball.

idiet who tossed a bottle out toward Devlin when the latter went into the mass for a foul ball.

The New Yorks won by hard hitting. More than one victous slash from their bats went ike a bullet into the thick fringe of spectators and caused a hurried scattering. Mathewson was in good form. He was conspicuously successful in keeping the Quaker hits scattered. The visitors made one hit in each of the first eight ianings. George Browne made a full fielged return to the game with both feet. Of the fourteen hits made by the New Yorks George made four and his mates ten.

New Yorks George made four and his mates, ten.

The two runs made by the New Yorks in the first inning were the result of skilful coperation. Shannon wasked, and Browne thrust a neatly placed single to left. Devlin, sacrificed, and on Seymour's fly to Titus Shannon scored. Bresnahan bunted slickly and brought Browne through. Spike Shannon knows more ways of getting on base than there are bones in a shad, and in the second inning he arched a homer into the right field seats, sending in Cortoran, who had singled as advance courier.

The bitting of the New Yorks in the third gecond inning he arched a homer into the right field seats, sending in Corcoran, who had singled as advance courier.

The hitting of the New Yorks in the third inning was in allopathic doses, but the scoring was homepathic. A single, two doubles and second single came in the order named, but cally one run resulted. Seymour, the first eingler, was out stealing, and Bresahan, the first doubler, perished the same way. Next McGann doubled and scored on Dahler's hit. Dan and Bill employed the hit and ran plan.

Titus scored for the Phillies in the fifth inning on a base on balls, Magee's double and a wild pitch. In the same inning Kit Bransfield cleaved into the crowd for McGann's high foul, rolled over a few legs and arms and heads in making the catch, but held on to the ball. Titus cost the New York club $6.25 while he was at bat in this inning. He fouled off five new balls, and all were swallowed up in the human sea. Magee ran into the crowd in left field in the strin inning and made a great catch.

off five new balls, and all were swallowed up in the human sea. Mageer an into the crowd in left field in the sixth inning and made a great catch.

Magee's catch came just after a fight in front of the grand stand between two youngsters who looked to be tynder only in years. Unlike some recent ring battles, this was not a fake. It was Murphy and Summers and then some: The boy in the check suit won it. However, he was somewhat over the paper weight limit and did not land as many hooks as the smaller gladiator. While the scrap was going on the crowd edged out further toward the plate and shut off first and third bases from a good many spectators.

The New Yorks scored their sixth run in the seventh inning. Browne beat out a bunt and Devlin clipped a liner along Third avenue. Browne ran in on Seymour's slap to right. Shannon made a ulity catch of Doolin's fly in the cight inning.

Magee's hitting had much to do with the runs garnered by the Quakers in the first inning. This slugger uses a bat of lignum vites or iron or something like that and turns out bingies as long as his name, which, in full, is Sherwood Nottingham Magee. Pitcher Moren, the man with the knuckle curve, was no pale luminary in defeating the New Yorks. He held them to three attenuated singles.

In the first inning Moren was unsteady and passed Shannon and Strang. Devlin sacrifood, Bressnahan walked, and MoGann's hit brought the passees home. That was all the cooring the locals did. With the Quakers it was a case of he who scores last scores best.

Knabe walked in the fourth inning and was forced by Titus. Magee did not force anybody. Sherwood Nottingham thumped the all so far toward the eastern horizon that by the time Seymour had got through grabbing for it and booking it Sherwood Nottingham bestrode the rubber a moment after Titus.

BOSTON, May 30.—Brooklyn and Boston broke even to-day. In the morning contest Young's excellent pitching shut out the visitors. The afternoon game went four-teen innings of excellent ball playing, Brooklyn scoving the winning run in the final session on two hits and a sacrifice. Lewis was put out of the game after a long wrangle with Lindemann, who acted as an umpire. The scores:

Making Three Out of Four From Washingtens-Victory and Defeat for All the Teams-Clevelands, Detroits and Chi-cages the Victims of Whitewash. The American League's Memorial Day battles resulted in each team of the eight winning and losing. The New Yorks won the morning game in Washington, and left there with three games out of four-pretty good work. The Bostons divided with Philadel-phia, as did Chicago with St. Louis and Detroit with Cleveland. There were three shutouts, the Detroits, Clevelande and Chi-

NEW YORK (A. I.), S; WARRENGTON, 1—MORNANG GAME.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—A game won and a game lost with the Washingtons to-day gave the New Yorks three out of the four games in the series here. A lack of pitchers in condition cost the New Yorks the final game by a big margin.

Not a single hit was required or made in the scoring of any of the three runs made by the New Yorks in the morning. A base on balls to Hoffman, his steal of second, an error and a long fiv scored the first run in the second inning. Jones's mill of Eiberfeld's line fly in the eighth inning, an out, a wild pitch and an error scored New York's second run. Conroy reached first on the error, stole sagond, went to third on an out and then stole home for New York's third run. Moore and Brockett lost for the visifors this afternoon. Griffith had no other pitchers to perform in the final game. Moore lacked form and control. Two passes to first, an error and a single scored three runs for Washington in the first inning. Three more hits off Moore in the second inning netted one more fally. Brockett replaced Moore, but was wild and ineffective.

Pitcher Frank Kitson, taken by Washington from Detroit in exchange for Jack Townsend last year, was turned over to Clark Griffith to-day in a deal, the terms of which were not given out. The score:

COLUMBIA OARSMEN WIN

REWS SECURE FOUR VICTORIES IN HARLEM REGATTA.

Schemian Juniors Do Well-Champion Greer Beaten by Shephard for Diamond Seulls—Bachelors' Barge Club Four Takes the Only Prize to Philade The Harlem Regatta Association held its forty-first annual meet on the speedway course yesterday and no worse weather or water conditions could prevail. A breeze from the north raked the course all day long and the water was so rough that the oarsmen had the time of their lives navigating the whitecaps. The race of the day was the sentor eight shell, in which Columbia University. New York A. C., Nassau and Bachelors Barge Club were the starters. The race was rowed against the tide, and Columbia, being on the pest location by several lengths.

Columbia jumped away when the word "Go" was shouted. When they straightened out well on the journey Columbia had the lead, with Nassau next, Bachelors Barge and New York A. C. pulling about level. As they flashed by the quarter the Bachelors went up to third place, but both they and the New Yorks were shipping the water in bucketfuls. The latter crew having the inside, hit all the swirls along the speedway. At the threequarters the Bachelors were in trouble and a little further on had to stop rowing, as their shell was full of water. The New Yorks were ittle better, but they struggled on and finished third. Columbia beat Nassau by something more than three lengths of open water, and Nassau just nosed home in front of the New Columbia won its second bracket in the Junior four gigs, beating New Roobelle by a length and a half. The third victory for the Blue and White occurred in the intermediate four oared gigs, which was won by about three lengths from the Nassau, with the Metropolitans bringing up the rear. For the fourth time the Columbia colors showed in front in the shatermediate eights, their only opponents being the Bohemians, who had won their junior spurs earlier in the morning. It was a good day's work for the Columbia strokeman, J. C. McKenzie, to pace three winning crews.

The junior eight furnished the first big surprise of the regatts—Columbia, New York Universty and the Bohemians. As they backed into the buoys the "Boho" partisans unstrapped their rolls and if any Columbia money showed in sight it was covered in a fash. At the first quarter the Bohemians were a length to the good and going well. At this point Hauser of Columbia jumped his seat, but got back in a liffy. A half mile from home the Bohemians had increased their lead to two lengths and they finally won by two and a half lengths from Columbia, with New York University about a quarter of a length away.

The intermediate singles resulted in the defeat of a strong favorite, Louis Major of the First Bohemian Boat Club. Howard Hart shot into the van and steering as straight as a die won by five lengths from Major.

In the senior doubles three crack crews, the New York A. C., Atalanta and Pennsylvania Barge backed into the starting line. The New Yorks quickly drew out. The Atalantas were close on their wash, with the Pennsylvanias falling away a triffe. In this order they pegged sway, but the Atalantas were slightly interfered with by a tow. Nevertheless Mulcahy and Varley crawled up and a few lengths from the fing the New York A. C., agave a fine exhibition of junior sculling in his event and he won the junior singles by four lengths from Wood of the Harlem Kowing Club. The Nonparelis rowed a well judged race in the centified of the Seawanhaka, Fred Fleussel of t
